These events include a huge range of activities from Multiple Sclerosis Society Ireland's early morning silent disco, to Multiple Sclerosis South Africa's skydive, Esclerosis Múltiple México's national conference in Mexico, MS Care Egypt's running event in Cairo and even Niagara Falls being lit up red!

We've gathered together some photos to share just some of the events which have already taken place, but there are still more to come over the next few days. It's not over yet!

World MS Day 2015

27 May is World MS Day – the only global awareness raising campaign for MS

Last updated: 26th May 2015

27 May is World MS Day – the only global awareness raising campaign for MS, bringing the global MS community together to share stories, raise awareness and campaign with and for everyone affected by multiple sclerosis.

This year we are celebrating the ways in which people all over the world are breaking down the barriers to living with MS. The campaign is encouraging people to share thank you messages with those who help make life easier for people with MS. These messages will celebrate networks of support, share achievements, raise awareness and inspire action, breaking down even more barriers to living with MS.

The interactive map of World MS Day events on the campaign website shows that, so far, 275 events have been organised across 67 countries! See what's happening near you and, if you're involved in an event, why not add it to the map?

As well as these events, there are plenty of other ways for you to get involved with this year's World MS Day:

- sign up for the campaign e-newsletter
- follow the campaign on Facebook, Instagram, Twitter and YouTube
- use the World MS Day logo or other campaign materials on your website, car window, Facebook or office noticeboard

World MS Day is organised by the MS International Federation and its members.
